One day, I saw a real big backpack in the school. It was tall as the school. When I saw what was underneath the backpack, I took the backpack off. There stood a dinosaur. I named it diny, because it was a cool name. After school, I took diny home and I show my mom. My mom screamed as loud as she could. I yeld "mom" to stop screaming and I told it was safe to have. My mom said "it's okey to have the dinosaur." Whe the state show and tell came, I asked my mom if I could sign in. she said you can sign in if your dinosaur is tame." I said "it tame, becaid I trained it." Whe I sign in the state show and tell was begining to start. I hurried to the line. The judges came out and thay told us to do tricks. This response reflects a limited degree of proficiency in narrative writing skills. The writer develops a story around finding a dinosaur in the backpack. Some details are provided, but the key idea surrounding the show and tell requires further development. Although a chronological organizational plan is employed, it is weakened by a lack of transitions. Additionally, an accumulation of errors in spelling and usage is displayed.
